

Task 2

The August 2025 soil moisture report shows that many parts of the western and northeastern U.S. are experiencing dry soil and drought. It uses data from rainfall, soil moisture levels, and drought risk indexes to predict that fire danger will be higher in some regions while flooding risk increases in others. The report is clear but could be easier to understand with simpler colors and explanations for people unfamiliar with technical terms.

URL:

<https://climateimpactcompany.com/august-2025-u-s-soil-moisture-observations-outlook-2-2/>